Hi Andrew,

Recent amendments to the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 require councils to review and amend their LEPs as soon as practicable after a District Plan is made. The introduction of Local Strategic Planning Statements (LSPS) is the first step in implementing the NSW Government's policy shift towards upfront strategic planning.

The Department of Planning and Environment require Greater Sydney councils to exhibit their draft local strategic planning statement by 1 July 2019 with the final version in place by 1 December 2019. You can find the Department's timeframes and Guideline documents at: https://www.planning.nsw.gov.au/Policy-and-Legislation/Environmental-Planning-and-Assessment-Act-updated/Guide-to-the-updated-Environmental-Planning-and-Assessment-Act-1979/Part-3-Strategic-planning

To meet theses timeframes, a draft LSPS will be reported to Council in June 2019.

The City's LEP review will follow adoption of a final LSPS.

Hope this helps.

Hello Tamara

During the Commission's meetings and discussions regarding Rosehill Street, the issue of Council's Local Strategic Planning Statement has arisen.

I note that Council is currently preparing its LSPS.

In finalising its advice, the Commission would like to know the status of the document at this stage.

I presume that nothing has gone to the Department as yet as it is my understanding that there is still some time to run on the timing of this process.

Any advice is appreciated.

Thanks
