As a mother of three young children who was born in the southern highlands and still has parents and other family members living there and returns regularly, I am absolutely shocked and appalled that this development has even been considered for this area. There are young families here, women, children for whom the health impacts would be absolutely catastrophic. We urge you to consider building something like this in a much lower density, far more remote area so that the effect on human life can be kept to the absolute minimum.
