Hi There

This is my submission for my objection to the proposed sand mine on Cabbage Tree Road, Williamtown

I understand that the residents living in the red zone cannot take any soil from their properties unless it is taken to an approved contamination facility for disposal so how can a sandmining company take the sand from this site all over the site?

As it is now there is a lot of trucks using this road day and night and this proposal will obviously increase truck movements significantly and also the trucks will have 2 movements if they are coming from hexham as they will have to go to nelson bay road to turn around to come back.

The dust from the sand mine will have a detrimental affect on the residents living close by, these residents are already dealing with health issues from the pfas contamination and should not be put under any extra pressure.

The area of this proposal is a koala corridor and the koalas in this area are threatened already and a fire not so long ago close by has impacted on their survival I feel very strongly that they should not be compromised any more.

In closing I feel that this sand mine would impact on the residents in this areas quality of life and this should be looked at closely.

Regards

Robyn Williams
