

I am not too excited about it ending up as a 9 hole golf course after 5 years, but I think it is better than the alternative.

If the Catholic Cemeteries are not allowed to purchase it, Panthers will pull the plug, and it will become an overgrown paddock.

They will take anything of value out of the clubhouse and lock the gates.
No more golf.

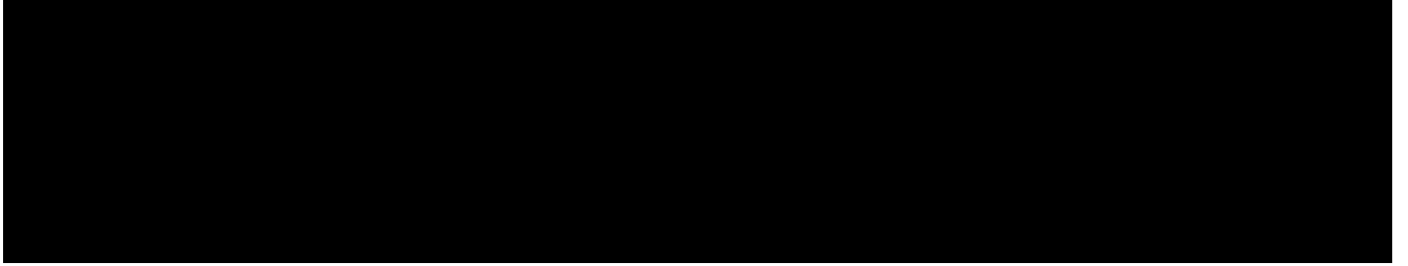

After a while I am sure the owner of the land will get his wish and turn it into a housing estate.

The article in the paper states that the community members in the gallery that were opposed to the cemetery
“weren’t golfers, they were residents”

“Residents can’t keep the Golf Club viable, golfers can.”

Why not give the 570 members a vote to see if they would prefer 5 years of no change, then 70 years of 9 holes, plus an upgraded Club House.
