Dear Alana,

In regards to the development proposal in the Narrawallee area:

The reserve with its stand of trees at the southern end of [REDACTED], should be retained as a passive play area. Too many trees have gone already. The developer should not be permitted to form six more blocks of land. There's a logical, environmental and natural space (liveability) basis for this and the clearing of this land would have a detrimental effect on the surrounding area, creating just another stock standard suburbia, rather than a passive natural buffer recreational space.

Kind Regards,

David
