I object to the approval of the Rix creek mine on the grounds of the negative effects it will have locally and globally.

We can not afford to emit any more carbon pollution. Already the effects of climate change have been catastrophic. The local impacts of air and noise pollution and the impacts on water and biodiversity are unacceptable, particularly in an area where the cumulative impacts of these projects are not able to be considered.

We need environment laws that require the carbon pollution of these projects to be considered by the IPC. Having this absent from the conditions of approval is lacking in common sense.

Please do not approve this mine.

Sincerely,
Charlotte McCabe
