Dear Department

I am making a submission opposing the Vickery Extension on the following grounds:

- The potential threat to some of Australia's most productive farming lands, as a time when global food security is under increasing threat.
- The potential threat to native fauna and flora, at a time when global warming and bushfire is already resulting in an immense loss of habitat.
- The relatively low employment gains, especially when compared with alternative land uses and energy sources.

Kind regards Paul
