It is futile Australia trying to control the world's climate, harmful to us and destructive of manufacturing and the economy.

The following two charts tell a story.

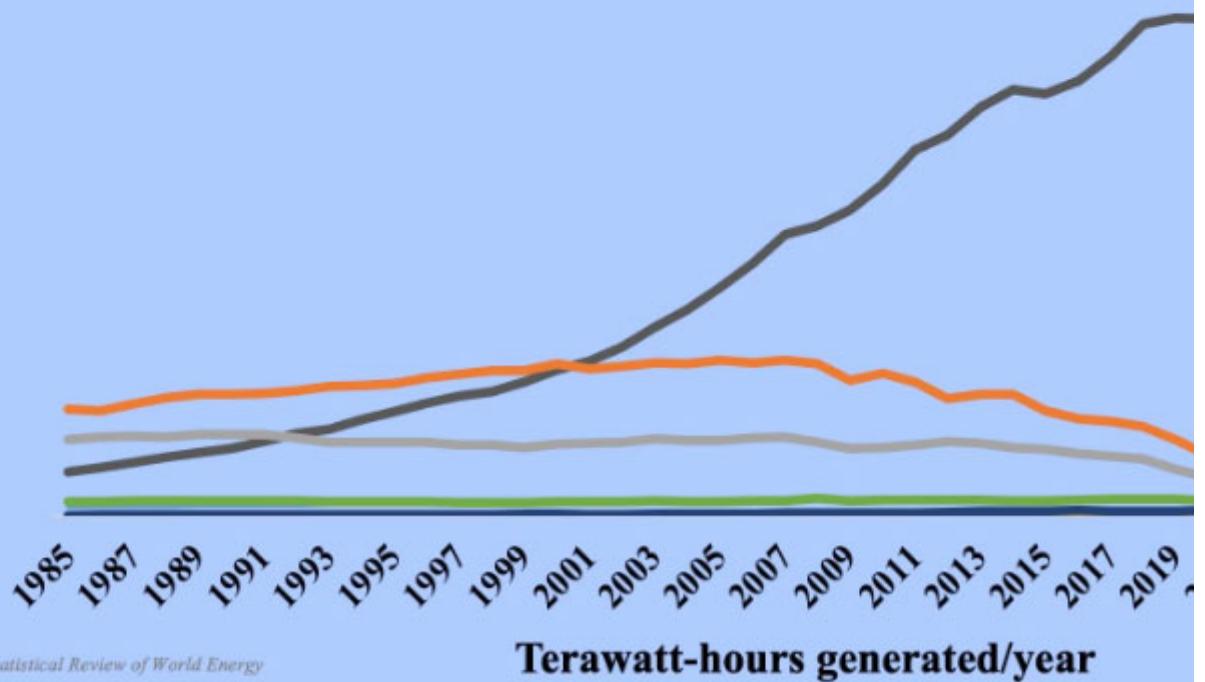

Renewables are expensive as they need to be fully backed up.

Please do whatever you can to stop the renewables transition, or to delay it until rationality arrives.

In the first chart, Africa is the slightly thicker y axis towards 2021 and some 50 years later than Asia.

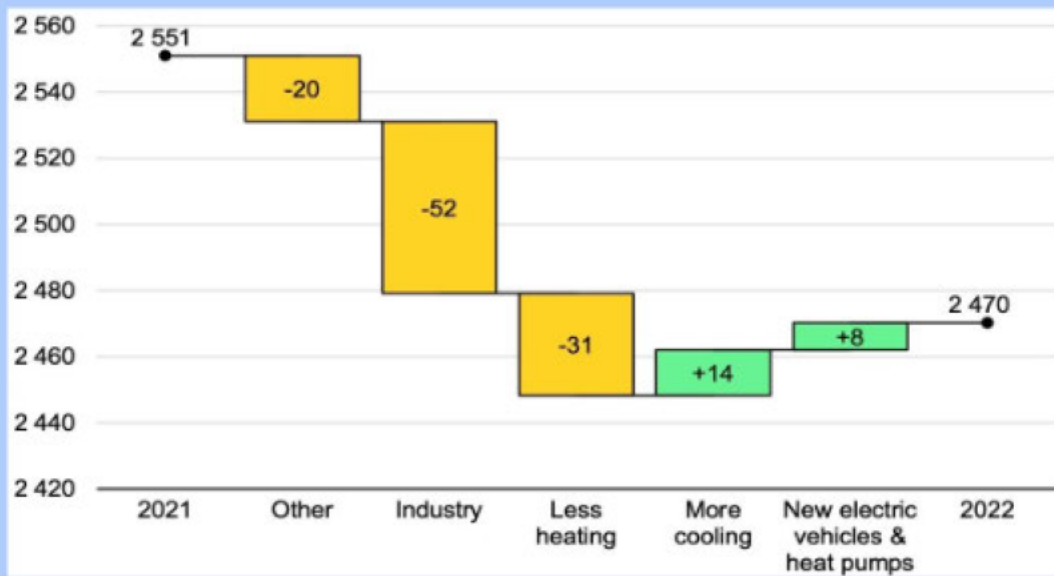

Coal use is declining in the US and Europe. In
