Topic 3. Demand for timber products, particularly as relates to NSW housing, construction, mining, transport and retail

In relation to the timber products, there has been instances where the timber price surged over the Covid period. The local supply chain (PNF) could assist with the domestic demands in certain period of time.

Instead of blanket rules apply for the PNF operation, the PNF should be treated as a part of the economic solution for the broader consumers in the Australian market.

The percentage of PNF applied on a land has always been a good practice to help individual owner of the land / business during this high living cost crisis.

Topic 4. The future of softwood and hardwood plantations and the continuation of Private Native Forestry in helping meet timber supply needs

Totally support the ongoing implementation of the PNF. The percentage of PNF applied on a land has always been a good practice to help individual owner of the land / business during this high living cost crisis.
