My primary concern for this development is the health implications associated with microplastics in the air. With a young family who breath southern highlands air and drink its water, I have deep concerns about continuing to live here if our long term health is at risk.

The research is clear regarding the link to microplastics and cancer. I would think that anyone who understands its toxicity and how easily it can move would be against this being located in a populated area. Our state should be demonstrating more care and concern- this is a disappointment.

I appreciate that we need a non-landfill solution to recycle plastics, but Moss Vale is not the right site. In a country with an abundance of land, there should certainly be other options to locate this facility which don't risk the health of so many people.

To our state leaders, I truly hope you care about your residents enough to not let this proceed.
