I am writing in protest to the proposed development of a plastics factory in Moss Vale Southern highlands. We have moved away for a few years and are moving back next year. When we come back to visit we are always taken with the green topography, the clean air, the beautiful vistas, the passionate community and healthy outdoor lifestyle.

We are situated between Sydney and Canberra yet remain not as populated or polluted.

This area is also one of NSW prestigious areas with high level of tourism's for its beauty and style. Why would we want to place the largest plastic factory in the southern hemisphere smack bang in the middle of such a revered srea. Not to mention the negative affects on water ways, animals, environment and our health., it is not worth the risk. This is not the right place. It's needs to be reconsidered and stopped.
