I strongly object to this development going ahead on a number reasons. The truck movements is a major concern. The roads and infrastructure are simply not in place to take such a high number of heavy vehicles. There is also a train line that motorists have to navigate. If the train line has a fault where do these large trucks go to get the the proposed development? Through Bowral, Moss Vale and smaller communities?? Again the roads, infrastructure could not cope and the general population would be in danger trying to stay well clear of these trucks.

The strong winds we have in the Highlands surely will have a negative impact on this site. Exactly how is the plastic going to be contained on site when the doors will be opened so often and given the doors are so big ??

What happens in the event of an emergency??

We have no full time firefighters and only a limited number of firefighting vehicles. By the time reinforcements arrive from over 60km away the building will have burnt down and the neighbours will be in grave danger. Not to mention the environmental impacts this will have.

Sydney water supply will also be in grave danger due to catchment runoff. How is this to be policed and enforced??

The value of our entire shire will be negatively impacted. We have made decisions to build our life here and integrated our families into the beautiful communities with clean air, water and beautiful pristine environments and this is all under a cloud .

No one will want to come and buy here if this ridiculous development goes a head.

This is simply not the right site.

Never has or never will be.
