My concerns include environmental impact to the area which is both residential & rural. This is not the right site for a development of this size and nature. Plants such as this would be better off in isolated areas where the impact would be less.

The number a trucks predicted to be arriving at the site daily is too many. The community has enough struggle with the quality of roads without the extra strain of thousands of semi trailers every month.

As a local resident I'm extremely concerned about impact on our air quality as well as potential water contamination.

Not the right area.
