I strongly object to the Plasrefine being built in Moss Vale.

The by products from this factory are toxic and hazardous to human health/ life, animals, vegetation, farm animals and wildlife.

The by products will pollute the air we all breathe and in turn, the by product pollutants will affect the farm animals who eat the grass and vegetation that these pollutants will settle on; then the people who eat the animals and/or animal byproducts. The pollutants will also get into waterways, via run off, affecting local water supplies and also Sydney water, via the water catchment areas in the Southern Highlands region.

Health issues arising from this factory's by products is a major concern.

Traffic will increase, which will damage (further damage) our already struggling roads in the area. (Paid for by council rates!).

Large trucks have been involved in accidents on a number of occasions on local roads, and by the sheer increase of vehicles coming and going, these issues will increase.

Moss Vale has become a more vibrant town over the last 20 years, attracting young families to move to the area for the fresh air and space. The Plasrefine will change the air quality and desire for people to move and live here.

Families and businesses who are close to the factory will not be able to enjoy the quality of life they have had...and in some cases this has been for generations. Their assets will lose value, directly resulting from the Plasrefine ring built close to their dwellings.

I say an absolute NO to this development going ahead.
