I moved from Sydney to Moss Vale just over one year ago as a base to start a family. We fell in love with area well before that, and believe that the natural beauty and unique landscapes of the Southern Highlands should be preserved and not scarred by the construction of a plastic recycling plant so close to a healthy and growing population. Not to mention the residual harm this will inevitably cause to air quality, water quality, health and wellbeing of the population of the Southern Highlands and beyond, and much more. Whilst the need for recycling plastic and it's impact on the environment is understood, let's not pretend that these factories have 100% clean operations with no adverse effects on the surrounding ecosystem and the families that reside here. This is an argument that Moss Vale, the Southern Highlands, and areas this close to a thriving population are not the right place for it.
