The environment for which this plastics waste facility is proposed is a pristine and natural area. A plant of this nature simply does not belong in this landscape.

Plasrefine is not only a terrible solution for Sydney's plastic waste disposal but it also offers little in terms of renewable energy if any at all. The toxicity it will leech into the environment is unacceptable on all levels and is carcinogenic to humans living around this area.

I oppose this development for the Southern Highlands and more specifically Moss Vale and urge you to recognize it for what it is a toxic plastics waste refinery.
