I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed development by Plasrefine Recycling Pty Ltd in Moss Vale.

I am 19 years old and live in Bowral, and finished my HSC at a local high school in Burradoo. I was fortunate to have been raised in the beautiful Southern Highlands when my parents moved from Sydney when I was born. Nearly all my peers moved here under the same circumstances, with our parents wanting a quiet, rural, healthy lifestyle for their children to be brought up in. I have enjoyed the benefits of living in a safe, clean environment and want that same opportunity for my future family.

I have many friends that live close-by to this development and I'm worried about the impact it will have on their daily lives with its huge buildings and emission stacks overshadowing nearby properties - noise, fumes, water and air pollution, microplastics and the effects on wildlife and the natural environment, all being detrimental to the entire Highlands and surrounding areas.

It will also detrimentally affect tourism and local businesses widely but especially in Moss Vale.

Recently I have obtained my Driver's License and am already noticing how much busier it is on the roads in the Highlands than it was a few years ago. I am worried about the volume of large trucks that will be needed to facilitate this enormous recycling operation and the safety and added congestion on our roads.

I have also seen photos of other plastic recycling operations that have had terrifying toxic fires which is very concerning to me, and our local firefighting facilities are in no way capable of handling such an inevitable environmental disaster.

Another concern I have is that this is widely unknown to most people I have spoken to. Surely something of this size should be made clearly and widely known to the community and Sydney (water) that it will detrimentally affect forever.

I strongly believe the facility should not be approved in this growing, residential area and should be located in a more suitable remote location.

Moss Vale and the beautiful Southern Highlands is NOT the right location!
