I strongly oppose the proposed plastic recycling processing centre in Wingecarribee. This facility poses significant risks to local waterways, potentially contaminating them with harmful chemicals and microplastics, which could devastate local ecosystems. Additionally, the increased traffic from trucks transporting plastic waste will exacerbate congestion, pose safety hazards, and increase pollution in our community. Socially and environmentally, this project prioritises industrial interests over the health and well-being of local residents and the natural environment. A more sustainable and less intrusive solution should be sought, one that addresses the growing plastic waste problem without compromising the integrity of our region. This should never have been considered for our local area.
