The proposed recycling plant at Moss Vale is a threat to the health of the local community, especially the children at the many schools in the area. It also threatens the fabric of the community who oppose the development as it will encourage people to leave the area due to the air pollution, the water pollution, noise pollution and 24/7 traffic going to the facility. It will also have an impact on the tourism in the region.

Who wants to spend a weekend in an area where a plastic recycling factory is spewing toxins into the air?

People come to the Souther Highlands and live in the Southern Highlands to escape these problems in the city. There is no need and no justification for this facility to be located here when it can just as easily be placed in industrial zones closer to the city.
