This development is not only a threat to the environment, but also a threat to the water sources. The toxic chemicals that will be released will have incomprehensible effects as the constant 24/7 exposure of toxins will have a residual effect on our community's health and wellbeing. Once this development is approved our community and future generations to come will be impacted by this irreversible environmental damage.

*To appoint a Project Manager that has been criticised in *, should be enough for any Governing bodies in any nation to know that no care will be taken, short cuts and cheap materials will be used and no one will be any the wiser. Once this development is approved, no member of the public will be privy to what is being built and to what material standard. We do not want an environment like * or the constant destruction of any ecosystems that they so freely destroy [REDACTED].*

The regulatory body for developers has already had Royal Commissions and yet still we hear of so many faulty developments being built.

The theory behind plastic conversion to pellets is great if it can be done WITHOUT other environmental catastrophe's. It defeats the purpose of recycling for environmental safety.

Communities are sick and tired of greedy corporations making money, in the name of recycling and saving our environment, when rather it is destroying it.

Governments don't care anymore about people's opinions or what is right, they only care about $$$ with no sense!

I have watched our community over 40 years with my children being born and educated here turn into a hub of suburbs, not townships.

Locals are already dubious about the amount of developments being approved. We do not have the road infrastructure to accomodate the amount of cars and traffic that are on our roads presently. Roads aren't maintained and constantly busy. Developers are turning our rural community into "Sydney City burbs".

We were once a rural community with balance. We are now an overpopulated, under maintained community.

We do not need or want anymore developments to impact our community, especially ones with toxic chemicals flooding our environment and project management that has failed on one of the most environmentally disastrous countries in the world.

*Build it somewhere else if you must - in the middle of arid Australia or even better - . What's one more factory there!

We don't need your job creation that will probably employ a minimum amount of people on minimum wages.

Community voices won't be silenced and always remember it is compulsory to vote in Australia and we are all fed up with the lack of leadership from both major parties.

As a community we will not only band together to oppose this, but it is election year next year - so step up and ban this atrocious and unnecessary development for our community.

New South Wales Government
Independent Planning Commission

Our community are not fools and are engaged in these types of developments. The community of the Southern Highlands had the Hume Mine fracking stopped and we will continue to fight against this.

Australia will be speaking with our vote next year - so hear this from the people of the Southern Highlands- BAN THIS DEVELOPMENT!
